Message from the PHS Athletic Hall of Fame Committee,

Thank you again for being a part of our fifth annual induction ceremony! This event is the culmination of a community wide effort to recognize the many outstanding athletes, coaches, and supporters of Portsmouth High School athletics. We could not have pulled this off with out very generous donations from several local businesses and organizations. Please take some time look through their advertisements in this booklet. But most of all, we are tremendously excited to recognize this class of Hall of Famers. We all have so much pride for our school's rich tradition. This is a very special occasion for us to see these folks enshrined in the PHS history books. Enjoy the evening and we hope to see you all again next year!

Sincerely,

John Blaess(Chairperson), Fran Blaess, Mike Lunney, and Shaun Horgan

Kate states, "I am grateful that PHS had an athletic program for women and that I had the opportunity to not only play for coaches who had an impact on me, but also to be part of something far greater than myself each season for my entire high school career." During the fall season Kate ran for the cross country team during her four years at PHS. She was named captain of the team for her junior and senior seasons. In 1986, she was named 1st team All Division and All Class honors, as well as being named the team's most valuable player. James “Doc” Studders - Special Contributor Inductee

—The Portsmouth High School Athletic Hall of Fame is delighted to recognize James “Doc” Studders and all he has done for the athletes at PHS in all sports. “Doc” could always be found on the sidelines of PHS Patriot football games for over 20 years. From the early 1980’s to the 2000’s, as well as other games, he would care for injuries sustained during the games. Jim grew up in a small town in central Michigan where he played football, basketball, and tennis. He sustained a knee injury in football during his junior year in high school which required surgery. This injury ignited his interest in medicine and in possibly becoming a physician. After graduating from the United States Naval Academy, Jim went to medical school to pursue his dream. After graduating, he returned to the Navy to complete a four year residency. While stationed at Camp Pendleton in California, he volunteered his time to be the team doctor for the local Oceanside High School. When he left the Navy, Doc settled in RI and set up his orthopedic surgery practice in 1979. With his love of sports, and the caring of sports injuries for high school students, his volunteering became a natural fit. The entire Portsmouth High School athletic community is grateful and indebted to Jim for his unselfish work for our kids. We are proud to induct him into the PHS Athletic Hall of Fame.

John F. Blaess '72 Teacher/Coach/Athletic Director/Administrator —

John was born with a congenital heart defect at birth and was described as a “blue baby” by the doctor. During his younger years, his parents kept him guarded at home with indoor activities. One of his doctors suggested to his mother that he take up stamp collecting as an activity as he needed to not exert himself. John’s elementary school teachers were told to watch him when he was allowed to attend recess with the other children. In 1963, at the age of 9, John underwent open heart surgery in Boston. At the time he was only the second child in New England to undergo an open heart surgery. As he continued to mature and grow bigger, he started to play backyard sports with his neighborhood friends in Redwood Farms. At Portsmouth High School, John loved sports and was manager for the football and basketball teams. Being followed closely by his cardiologist, he was finally allowed to participate in high school sports for his senior year at Portsmouth High School. He played football and was on the track & field team for the Patriots that year, placing at the state wide level in the hammer throw. Ignoring his high school guidance counselors’ advice of, “Don’t waste your father’s money and go to college,” John applied to colleges and enrolled as a physical education major at Barrington College located in Barrington, RI, a small Christian NCAA Division 3 school. He played on the school’s soccer team as a goalie in both the outdoor and indoor seasons as well as the basketball program. During his senior year, John student-taught at Portsmouth High and Middle schools and was awarded the college’s Student-Teacher of the Year Award. This was the first time in the school’s history the education department gave the award to a physical education major.

John began his teaching career at the elementary school level at Portsmouth in 1977 until he moved to the high school level in 1983. He quickly became involved in coaching a variety of sports at PHS. John coached at the freshman, junior varsity, and varsity levels in soccer, cross country, basketball, and track. He was appointed head soccer coach at Middletown High School and coached there for two seasons. John’s longest coaching tenure was with the track and field program lasting for 18 years.

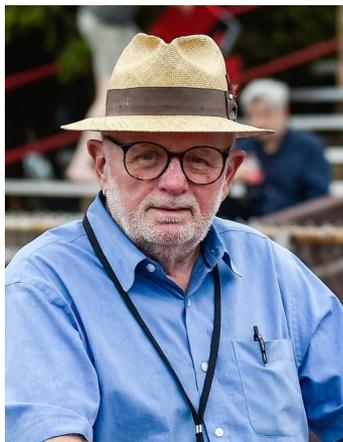

EST. 2017

As the head coach of the program, his teams were continually one of the best in RI. His dual meet record as a coach was 67 wins, 9 losses, and 1 tie. John's teams won 3 county championships, 8 class relay championships, 3 division championships, and placed in the top 5 at the RI high school state championship meet 4 times during his tenure as head coach.

John was appointed athletic director at Portsmouth High School in 1989 and served the school in this capacity until 1994. During his time as the school's AD, he oversaw the complete renovation of the school's athletic complex which upon completion was considered one of the best in the state. The school's athletic teams also during his 6 years as AD won 13 state and 13 division championships. The teams and coaches he supervised promoted sportsmanship and gender equity. He was named "RI's Athletic Director of the Year" in 1991. He earned a Master's of Education degree in Secondary Administration from Providence College in 1994 and became the Assistant Principal at North Kingstown High School that fall. John served in that capacity as well as school's special education department head until 1999. He won the high school's "Educator/Booster of the Year" award in 1999. John came back to his alma mater PHS in the fall of 1999 and served as the school's assistant principal until his retirement from education in 2009. During his time at Portsmouth, John performed multiple functions at once, was an educational leader, served on various committees, and maintained order, safety, and security within the school. Student would refer to him as their "high school dad." John won the state's "RI High School Assistant Principal of the Year" award presented by the RI Association of School Principals for the school year of 2002- 2003. He also served as Director of Baseball for the RI Interscholastic League for a number of years and was inducted into the RI Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame in 2009, winning the prestigious Ben Mondor award. He served as the PA announcer, "voice of the Patriots," for varsity football home games for over 15 years. John was active in his hometown community of Portsmouth. He was a long time member of the Portsmouth Rotary Club winning the "Paul Harris Fellowship" award, the highest recognition of service to the community by Rotary International. He served as a youth coach in town, as well as a council member at his church. John ran for and was elected, receiving the most votes in the election, to the Portsmouth town council in 2012. John and his wife, Fran, have 4 children and 4 grandchildren, live in Bradenton FL and spend summers in Bristol, RI.

Bob Leddy (Posthumous) Media Award—

A true friend of Portsmouth High School athletics, Bob Leddy was a major contributor to the school's recognition across the state. If a game was covered by Bob, you knew it was an important one and would be written about in a fair and entertaining manner. Described by his colleagues as "a true ambassador of our sport," his contributions to RI high school athletics spanned nearly five decades. Bob began working for the Providence Journal-Bulletin in 1963, and he retired in 2001 after 38 years of service. Covering high school sports for 17 of those years, with cross country, indoor and outdoor track as his primary beats, Bob shined a spotlight on RI student athletes, writing columns and features, covering major championships, and selecting Providence Journal All State teams. After attending a packed Friday night football game at PHS on the John F. Kennedy field under the lights with a packed house, the band playing and featuring a very competitive game he said, "This is what high school sports should look like. A community pulling together for their kids and putting on a great show! What a place!"

Bob's interest in track and cross country emanated from his work as an official. He was a member of the RI timer's guild officiating at high school and collegiate events in the state. He was a member of the Boston marathon officiating crew for 10 years. Bob also served as a correspondent for the RI Track & Field Foundation. Bob was inducted into the Words Unlimited and RI Track Coaches Halls of Fame. He also held membership in the Track & Field Writers of America. He is survived by his 3 sons – Cyrus, Paul, and Christian, his daughter-in-law Shannon, and his ex-wife Judy Ellinwood.

Thank you to our sponsors!

Our goal is to have a touch screen display installed on the high school campus that acts as an interactive curation of all our hall of fame inductees. This display would allow people to browse through the various classes, view photos, read articles and bios, as well as play video. We feel that this is a great way to honor accomplishments of our inductees and a great way to connect the current students to the legacy and tradition of excellence each honoree has started. The generous donations from these folks have us well on our way achieving this goal. So far we have raised $3000 and hope to raise another $2000 more. Thank you to the many donors, and please consider contributing! Visit our website, portsmouthathletichof.com to donate!
